The good news is that many couples have infertility benefits to cover the initial consultation and diagnostic testing and may also have coverage for fertility treatment. The news is especially good for South Carolina state employees who typically have coverage for all forms of infertility treatment and evaluation.

We recognize that understanding insurance benefits can be challenging which is why at Coastal Fertility Specialists we have invested substantial resources in making the financial/insurance process as seamless as possible for you.

You will be introduced to your financial counselor during your new patient visit to be sure you have one point of contact for all of your insurance questions or concerns. We will investigate your benefits so that you know what is covered before any testing or treatment are initiated. The counselor will help you navigate your insurance benefits and provide you with alternate financial options should you need them.
