Multi-Cycle Discount Program

We all share the same goal – for you to bring home a baby. The Multi-Cycle Discount Program can help you do just that, while simplifying the financial side of things.

Everyone is unique and many elements come into play, but the fact is that approximately 50% of women who choose IVF will not become pregnant on their first try. The Multi-Cycle Discount Program allows for the transfer of all resulting embryos when you choose either two or three egg retrievals, as well as an unlimited number of Frozen Embryo Transfers (FETs).

More cycles equals a better chance of success; this program provides many opportunities to succeed, and the peace of mind that results from knowing you haven't put all your eggs in one basket. When it comes to something this important you can't afford to fail.

Shared Risk Program

Infertility is stressful enough, figuring out how to pay for treatment shouldn't freak you out even more. The Shared Risk Program was created to help.

Statistics show that approximately 50% of women who try IVF won't become pregnant on the first cycle. Our program allows for the transfer of all resulting embryos when you choose either two or three egg retrievals, as well as an unlimited number of Frozen Embryo Transfers (FETs). More cycles = more chances to succeed. We know this journey is different for everyone so we've added a refund layer to our Multi-Cycle Discount Program. Patients who meet certain medical criteria may be able to get a refund if their path to parenthood takes an unexpected turn and they don't have a baby.

Those who qualify may be eligible for:

- Up to a 50% Refund: Patients who choose a two-cycle plan.
- Up to a 100% Refund: Patients who choose a three-cycle plan.

Patients feel a sense of peace knowing they have multiple opportunities to make their dream of having a baby come true. And if, despite everyone's best efforts, it doesn't happen? Many choose to use their refund to pay back their loan, or pursue other options, such as adoption, for growing their family.
